

2020-2021 Tour Extensions – Zhangjiajie National Forest Park of China Famed For Its Beautiful Mountains

Zhangjiajie National Forest Park was designated a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 1992. The park is known for its unique landscape with lush forests dominated by quartzite sandstone pillars. Bubbling brooks and charming lakes wind around the area and connect giant caves.

Tianmenshan Mountain, is one of the most representative natural sceneries of Zhangjiajie. Tianmen Mountain Cableway is claimed in tourist publications as the "longest passenger cableway of high mountains in the world", with 98 cars and a total length of 24,459 ft and ascent of 4,196 ft. The highest gradient is an unusual 37 degrees. Tourists can walk on miles of paths built onto the cliff face at the top of the mountain, including sections with glass floors. An 6.8 mi road with 99 bends also reaches the top of the mountain and takes visitors to Tianmen cave, a natural hole in the mountain of a height of 431 ft.

Tianzi Mountain, Tianzishan provides stunning views of the surrounding mountains and valleys. Waterfalls, bridges, stone forests and caves are found throughout the mountains.
